

100,000 Cans of Food Put Up by Local RA Families in Year

Laid End to End, Would Reach From Hope to Patmos—Requirement 140 Cans Per Person Per Year

If all the canned goods put up by Hempstead county RA farm families in one year were laid end to end the string of cans would reach from Hope to beyond Patmos, A. H. Wade told Hope Rotary club Friday noon at Hotel Barlow.

Mr. Wade, county supervisor for the Farm Security Administration, successor to the Rural Resettlement Administration (RA) since that organization was brought under the Department of Agriculture, told the club that the 157 farm families being administered in Hempstead put up 100,000 cans of vegetables, fruits and meats last year.

Home-canning is a cardinal point of the farm security program, and the requirements staggered Mr. Wade's audience of city men.

Mr. Wade said the government required the following, of those families it was lending money to:

To put up 125 cans of vegetable foods and 15 cans of meat every year for every person in the family—a total of 140 cans per year per person.

It isn't unusual, Mr. Wade said, for the housewife to make more money, potentially, than her husband makes out of his cotton crop.

For the Farm Security Administration is a lending, not a relief, group, Mr. Wade pointed out.

It is designed to help the tenant class of farmers get in condition to qualify as self-sustaining farm operators and future landowners. Sixty-five per cent of the farm operators of Hempstead are tenants, Mr. Wade continued.

The speaker told his audience that the government deals exclusively with the low-income bracket of tenants. It concerns itself only with those who make successful proof that they are unable to obtain private credit from any source.

The procedure then is this, Mr. Wade explained:

1. Application is made for a Farm Security loan, backed by three references.
2. The application is acted upon by the county committee of four, who investigate the references.
3. The application is then reviewed by the state committee and its district supervisors.
4. The tenant is compelled to obtain a contract for a definite piece of land for a definite time.
5. The Farm Security Administration then works out a farm and home program, contract for which must be signed by both the farmer and his wife.
6. A loan then is granted—a "character loan," which, however, takes the farmer's individual livestock, tools and household furnishings also as collateral.

As a part of the contract the farmer and his wife guarantee to put up 140 cans of food per person per year.

A long-term repayment plan recovers the government's money as the farmer progresses—and the government is "coming out" on its loans, Mr. Wade concluded.

The speaker was introduced by Craig Roshorough Friday noon.

Other guests were: Clifford L. Smith of Hope, new Hempstead county farm agent; Bill Boney of Stamps; Jim Weigert of Little Rock.

The Rev. Tom Brewster presided at Friday's club meeting.

CIO Conciliatory Toward AFL Offer of Laborite Peace

Possibility of United Front Appears in Ranks of Labor

AFL MOVES FIRST

Suggests Parley, and CIO Offers to Meet at Washington

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(AP)—The Committee for Industrial Organization (CIO) proposed Friday to the American Federation of Labor that committees from both organizations meet to consider further possibility of peace conferences.

It was suggested that a preliminary meeting be held at Washington the week of October 25.

"Has Possibilities"

DENVER, Colo.—(AP)—George Harrison, chairman of the American Federation of Labor's peace committee, said Friday that the CIO's latest peace proposal looked like it had possibilities.

AFL Makes First Move

DENVER, Colo.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor sent a new peace proposal to the C. I. O. Thursday in response to the offer John L. Lewis sent here Tuesday. The proposal was new in that the federation agreed to enlarge to a "reasonable" size the Executive Council's three-man standing Peace Committee.

Otherwise, it was no different from the offer the federation has stood by since it suspended 10 leading C. I. O. unions for "insurrection" more than a year ago. It called for committees from the two camps to meet "without conditions or stipulations" to work out a settlement.

Lewis' offer stipulated that the A. F. of L. recognize the principle of the industrial form of labor organization for mass production industries, and proposed that each side send 100 men to the peace conference.

The A. F. of L. convention unanimously elected Green to his thirteenth term as president. In accepting the post, Green adopted the most conciliatory tone he has used for weeks in discussing the C. I. O. issue.

"I hope and trust and pray we may become united," he said. "United we are invincible."

County Unit Plan Bitterly Opposed

Senator McKellar Joins Opposition in Tennessee Fight

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—Opponents of Governor Browning's county unit voting plan thwarted three attempts to have the house act on the program Thursday, and Browning followers served notice they would seek a change in the rules Friday.

The house failure to act made it virtually certain the legislature will not dispose of the issue until next week. The bills will be up for third and final senate reading Friday but they have passed only one reading in the house.

K. D. McKellar, Tennessee's senior United States senator, whose son Browning is reported to hope to occupy after 1940, sent the Nashville Banner a diatribe attacking the unit plan as "vicious."

McKellar's arrival here, expected Monday, would give the controversy all the aspects of a "battle of United States senators" since George Berry, Browning's appointee to the senate, is already here in the interest of the unit plan.

The senate heard the unit program denounced by former Gov. A. H. Roberts, L. E. Gwin of Memphis, a former candidate for governor, and others at a public hearing.

With the house deadlocked, the Senate resolved itself into a Special Committee and devoted most of the day to the public hearing.

Loan Period for Cotton Lengthened

Sales Must Be Reported Within 15 Days of Transaction

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Growers who have sold their cotton will be given additional time to qualify for government adjustment payments, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration announced Thursday.

Sales receipts for cotton sold up to October 15 must be filed with county AAA officials by October 30. Receipts for cotton sold after October 15 must be filed within 15 days of the sale, officials said.

Previously growers were requested to file sales receipts by September 30 for cotton sold prior to September 15 and receipts for sales after September 15 within 15 days thereafter.

Officials said the one-month extension would enable "all growers who were unable to file their receipts within the time limit previously set" to qualify.

State Savings Less on Bond Tenders

Improved Financial Condition Raises Value of Obligations

LITTLE ROCK.—The state's improved financial condition and better economic conditions generally are causing the state to save less and less on its bond tenders, Comptroller J. O. Goff said Thursday.

A tabulation of Arkansas highway, toll bridge and other obligations purchased Thursday by the state Refunding Board showed that few bonds can be purchased now at less than par.

The board purchased $317,450.66 worth of par value bonds for $735,450.66 Thursday, effecting a saving to the state of $417,999.73 in gross principal.

A total of $265,000 of three per cent Bond District "A" bonds was purchased for $225,477.21, a savings of $40,022.73. A high of 83.73 was paid for the bonds.

At the first tender under provisions of the 1934 Refunding Act on September 19, 1934, this type bond brought a high of 67. Those bonds reached their all-time high at the February 25, 1937, tender when a maximum of 92.75 was paid. At the April 7 tender, this year, a high of 89.59 was paid; at the July 20, 1937, tender $4.90 an dat the September 22, 1937, tender 85.55.

New Arab-Jew Outbreak—France May Enter Spanish War

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said in substance Friday that an attempt to mediate the sino-Japanese conflict would be the first step considered by the conference at Brussels of the nine-power treaty signatories, including the United States.

War in Palestine

Terrorism in the Holy Land, reaching an acute stage with the ambush-killing of two British constables, centered diplomatic attention Friday on another of the world's trouble spots.

Even as the British government was concentrating its efforts on preventing the Spanish civil war from spreading into a European conflagration, the latest manifestation of Arab unrest came from its mandated Palestine territory, long the scene of Arab-Jewish conflict.

Constables Norman Harris and Austin Malin were added to the list of dead, which has already included four Arabs in the present disorder.

A dozen Jews have been wounded in the last two days.

Reports from the Orient, where the Japanese and Chinese fighting fiercely at Shanghai, are engaged along a wide front in North China, gave no hope of an immediate settlement of the conflict.

In Spain, reports from Asturias province indicated that the fall of Gijon, last government-held seaport in northwest Spain, was imminent.

France May Act

LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—French Foreign Office officials said Thursday night that France is considering joint direct action with Great Britain if a non-intervention subcommittee fails to obtain withdrawal of Italian volunteers from Spanish insurgent armies.

France was ready to protect her Mediterranean trade routes after agreeing to go along with Britain in giving the nine-power subcommittee a chance to obtain withdrawal of the groups. The committee will meet here Saturday morning. French sources were pessimistic on the outcome of the meeting.

Official sources in Paris said France and Britain agreed to demand an immediate "symbolic" withdrawal of some foreign troops from Spain as the price for their return to the Non-Intervention Committee table. They said the two powers will ask this in a declaration to the sub-committee meeting Saturday.

Withdrawal of an equal number of volunteers of each nationality will be proposed, it was said, as proof of the sincerity of all parties and a guarantee of later adherence to an agreement in principle to recall all foreign soldiers from Spain.

France and Britain then would consent to more lengthy discussions with the final goal the stripping of both sides in the Spanish war of their foreign soldiers at the same time. The withdrawals could be supervised by the Non-Intervention Committee's control officers, it was said.

VERY EARLY SNOW

Earliest Snowfall in 16 Years Reported at Columbus, Ohio

A light frost accompanied a drop in temperature that sent the mercury to within one and a half degrees of freezing early Friday morning, weather instruments at the Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment station showed.

The official low was 33½ degrees, only one and a half degrees above freezing.

The light frost, first reported this fall, damaged tender plants to some extent. There was a trace of ice in an exposed place at the experiment farm.

By the Associated Press

Abnormally cool weather spread southward Friday in the vast area east of the Rockies, while communities of the mountain region enjoyed higher temperatures.

A light snow fell in northwestern Missouri, south central Iowa, and central and western New York.

A light frost occurred Thursday night as far south as northern Louisiana and central Mississippi.

Winter Hits North

CHICAGO.—(AP)—Winter paid an early call on Central and Eastern parts of the country Thursday bringing many Northern areas with SHDLUE freezing temperatures and blanketing many Northern areas with snow.

An official reading of 30 degrees was registered here for the first time this fall. Snow was reported from the Indiana dunes northward into Michigan and as far east as New York state.

A light snow fell over Ohio—it was the earliest in 16 years at Columbus—and heavy frost caused widespread crop damage in the state. Newark, Ohio, reported a low temperature of 24 degrees.

Continued cold weather was forecast for the East, while the prediction for most Mid-Western States was "generally fair and not quite so cold."

Snow flurries in Pittsburgh and Altoona, Pa., arrived three weeks ahead of last year's debut. Both cities reported minimum temperatures of 30 degrees, an all-time low for the date in Pittsburgh.

Snow covered western New York state, two inches falling in parts of Erie, Wyoming and Cataraugus counties. Owl's Head in the northern Adirondacks, reported a temperature of 10 above zero.

Stock Values Fall 17 Billion Dollars

Average Market Price of Shares Is Lowest in Two Years

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Here's what a $17,000,000,000 two-month slump in prices on the New York Stock Exchange has done to statistical indices and share values:

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed Thursday at $49.20 per share, down 30 per cent from the August 14 close. The latest figure was the lowest in more than two years.

The decline chopped away 64 per cent of the two-year gain from March, 1935, to spring this year, the longest sustained bull market in history.

Rail stock averages have plunged 42 per cent from the August peak; hardest hit of the major groups. Industrials dropped almost one-third, while utilities had 22 per cent of their value shipped away by the set-back.

The decline from the year's high, touched in mid-March, has carried rail quotations down 53 per cent, utilities 37 per cent and industrials 31 per cent.

Women In Industry Have Greater Health Hazards Than Men Face

This is the fourth of a series of articles in which Dr. Morris Fisher discusses diseases and other health hazards in industry.

(No. 345)

The occupational hazards of women differ in several particulars from those which affect men—first because of the difference in the nature of the constitution of the women worker and second because of the special work in which women may be employed.

The World War increased tremendously the total amount of employment among women. In some populations, notably those of the smaller foreign countries, more than 40 per cent of women are employed. In England and Wales, in Sweden and in Belgium 25 per cent of women are employed; in the United States about 17 per cent of women work for a living.

It is well established that industrial disease will aggravate or increase the number of conditions from which young women suffer, including disturbances of the blood, the nervous system and the organs associated with childbirth.

According to the statistics published by various sickness insurance groups abroad, the women suffer much more from industrial conditions than do men. The average death rate for women in industry is higher than the general average, and also higher than the rate for men of a comparable age. It is found that women in industry are more susceptible to fatigue and monotony than are men.

In England it was found that women employed in light work for 60 hours a week had 91 per cent more accidents than men doing the same amount of work. When the hours were reduced to 40 per week, the women still had 48 per cent more accidents than the men.

Altogether, however, it is the function of maternity which raises the greatest question in relationship to woman and work. Pregnancy hazards are greater for the woman in industry than they would be for the same woman under ordinary conditions.

Among the chief dangers to the woman at work are positions which require that the body be held in the same position—either upright, seated or bent—for long periods of time, since such permanent postures have a bad influence on the tissues.

Because of the hair and the clothing worn by women, they are much more susceptible to poisonous dusts than are men working in the same industry. Certain positions held by women, particularly clean-up jobs in large office buildings, may keep them awake most of the night and during the day they attend to their household duties so that actually their hours of work are far longer than those of men.

In some European countries where women serve as porters in the railroad stations they are observed to suffer with deformities of the spine and of the pelvis, indicating quite definitely that women are not adapted to heavy weight carrying.

Finally, all of the diseases peculiar to women are found to be present in a much higher percentage among working women than among those who are not employed.

NEXT: The dust diseases.

Christian Speech and Conduct
Text: James 3

James, reputed to be the brother of our Lord, is one of the most direct and practical of teachers. The counsel that he gave to early Christians in his general epistle is very good counsel for our own time. It is reinforced by very striking figures and illustrations.

Here in our lesson he is dealing with Christian speech, and strikingly he emphasizes the need of restraint and adequate discipline. He draws his illustration from the bridle by which a horse is controlled, and from ships, which though they are great and driven by rough winds, are turned about by a very small rudder.

"So the tongue," he says, "is a member, and boasteth great things." But the tongue needs control. "It is a fire: the world of iniquity among our members is the tongue."

How true that all! The power of words, the way in which they can create wrong impressions, and convey injuries from which there may be no recovery; James sees the tongue as a sort of untamable beast, a restless evil full of deadly poison when it is not controlled.

"With the tongue," he says, "we bless the Lord and Father, and with the tongue we curse men made after the likeness of God. Out of the same mouth cometh forth blessing and cursing."

What is man to do with this dangerous weapon of the tongue, that may affect his whole body? He is to seek wisdom, and he is to find that wisdom from above, the wisdom that is pure and peaceable and gentle; full of mercy and without hypocrisy.

There is no use hoping to control the tongue if there be not a right attitude of mind and heart; if there be not mercy in the soul, there will be little mercy in one's words, and if there be not a peaceable disposition, the tongue will be a breeder of strife and bitterness.

Few counsels for living life well are of more practical value than these plain words of James; and it ought to be remembered that "the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace for them that make peace."

Peace does not come by chance. It comes through the attitude and action of those who prepare for it. The world is full of dissension and bitterness today because men have not sought peace and prepared for it. They have lusted for wealth and power and have cared more for their own way and interest than for the common good. James enforces the truth that peace and welfare do not come that way.

CHAPTER XXVII

CILLY went into the bedroom and picked up the little gadget for which she had searched through her lower bureau drawer. It was a small dressmaker's awl used years ago by her mother for marking out patterns. All along it had been a perfectly useless thing; Cilly kept it only against the possibility that it might come in handy sometime. This was the time.

The little gadget not only marked off patterns very nicely but a long time ago Cilly had found that it cut glass without any effort and without any crash or splintering. It was going to serve that purpose now, for Cilly was going housebreaking. She was going to solve the mystery of Mrs. Elliott and the vacant apartment above her.

She wrapped herself in her dark raincoat, then pulled the waterproof hat down over her hair. The dressmaker's gadget she slipped into her pocket, then turning out the light in her bedroom, she quietly opened the window and let herself out on the fire escape. She closed the window behind her to keep the rain out of her own room, but she very carefully left it up from the bottom about one inch. That was room enough to slip her fingers underneath and open it again from the outside should she come back by way of the fire escape.

The flimsy iron framework shook as she put her full weight on it, and for one terrible instant she feared that it would not hold her. But apparently it was strong enough. Slowly, step by step, she climbed to the floor above, carefully feeling her way lest she slip on the wet metal. Eight steps took her halfway up, then she turned on the small platform to ascend the second half of the flight. It was like walking on greased glass.

SHE hesitated a moment as she finally reached the window of Mrs. Elliott's bedroom, and tried to pierce the gloom within the room.

True, there might be a murderer hiding in there, under the bed, or in the clothes closet at the side. But Cilly did not think so now. Fearlessly she peered through the window only to get a glimpse of the room's layout. Then she took the dressmaker's tool out of her pocket.

Very carefully she cut a semicircle in the pane of glass directly above the window's catch—just enough so that she could slip her fingers through and unlatch the window. Some day, she thought with a smile, she would confess to Mr. Johnson and offer to pay for the broken window pane.

The small semicircle of glass fell to the floor within the room, and splintered with a resounding crash. But it could not have been heard anywhere except in the apartment below, and that was her own. Cilly unlocked the window, and raised it slowly. An instant later, she slid over the sill, careful not to tread on the broken glass at her feet.

She wished she had brought a flashlight, but she did not own one. She looked carefully at the window shade. Good! It was as she had hoped. The windows were equipped with two sets of shades, light and dark, for this apartment faced the south and the sun shone in brightly all day. She pulled down both sets of shades, now she could turn on the light, with little fear of being seen from the outside.

In the full glare of the overhead fixture, the room looked bare and cold. It looked the cozy homeliness one usually associates with old ladies' rooms. There were no magazines on the end table, no intimate snapshots of nieces or nephews or grandchildren, no snugly cushions.

CILLY started on the chest of drawers. One after another she opened each drawer, and her eyes widened in amazement. They were entirely empty! There was not even newspaper covering on the bottom. Had Mrs. Elliott moved out completely, bag and baggage, as had Mrs. Wheeler?

Next she looked into the clothes closet. Would this too be empty? But no, there were clothes here. Typical old ladies' clothes. A black silk dress, of no particular style. A plain cloth coat, of a slightly rusty black. A muslin slip, hung on a wall bracket. Black oxfords, very large black oxfords, looking not unlike a pair of many dress shoes, lay on the floor.

Cilly looked again. Surely there must be something else . . . this was only one complete outfit. Did Mrs. Elliott have no other clothes? And where were her underthings, her house dresses? She opened the door wider, to see deeper into the closet.

Here was something! Another coat, it appeared. Cilly brought it out to the light. Why, it was a man's coat! A man's topcoat! Cilly felt suddenly panic-stricken. Here was the solution to the mystery. Here in Mrs. Elliott's apartment. This was where a man had been hiding out . . . and Mrs. Elliott must have known him, else he would not have the temerity to hang his topcoat in her closet.

Mrs. Elliott knew who the murderer was. That was why she was remaining in Connecticut, until all the excitement had died down.

IN the instant of that realization Cilly froze with terror. Where was the man now? How soon would it be until he returned and found here? Perhaps any minute now, she would see him. She would be face to face with the murderer of Amy Kerr. And she would be just as helpless as Amy had been up there on the roof.

If she waited long enough, she would discover him. But what good would it do her, if she never lived to accuse him?

Quickly she put the topcoat back into the closet. Her hands shook violently. She knew only one thing: that she wanted to get out of this apartment and downstairs just as fast as ever she could. She did not dare go out into the other rooms to search for more clues. She would call Sergeant Dolan immediately and let him do that.

Somewhere a board creaked suddenly. Cilly spun around and stared outside, into the darkness that was the living room beyond. She could see nothing. She stood still for one dreadful moment. She must go over to the doorway and switch off the light, yet she hesitated. For some reason she did not want to be left in that dark bedroom to find her way back to the fire escape.

And even as she thought this, her eyes widened in horror. She tried to scream, yet the very breath choked in her throat. For a man's hand—a large, powerful hand—reached in from the living room and turned off the light instead.

The next instant, she felt that hand around her throat, and she was dimly conscious of the odor of damp tweeds.

Horse Ailment

It is almost impossible to secure serum for the treatment of horses and mules that are affected with encephalomyelitis, or "sleeping sickness," according to word received from Dr. C. D. Stubbs, state veterinarian.

However, Dr. Stubbs said that a supply of vaccine is available for the prevention of the disease. Dr. Stubbs estimated Thursday morning that at least 150 horses and mules in thirteen northwestern Arkansas counties are affected with the disease, and that between 60 per cent and 75 per cent of the affected animals are dying. He pointed out that in some localities as many as 60 per cent will recover.

Many of the cases that recover now will be more or less permanently affected, depending on the severity of

One of the serious offenses under the Arkansas Motor Vehicle law is that of driving while under the influence of intoxicants. The court may impose a sentence of a fine up to $1,000 or by imprisonment for not less than ten days or more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment; and wherever a driver is convicted of driving while under the influence of intoxicants, it is mandatory that his driver's license be revoked for one year.

Reckless driving is another offense which results in many casualties and is dealt with very severely. Upon a third conviction for reckless driving in any one year, it is compulsory that the driving license of such offender be revoked.

The speed of motor vehicles outside of municipalities is that which is reasonable and prudent under the conditions then existing, and where no special hazards exist a speed of 20 miles per hour is permitted in business districts, and 25 miles per hour in residential districts, with provisions which enable local authorities to raise these speed limits to not to exceed 45 miles per hour.

The usual investigations for speed on through streets and boulevards where greater latitude is permitted, in the disease, the state veterinarian said.

Most of the animals are now affected with what is known as the "eastern strain" of the disease, which is not as virulent as the "western strain." He said that if the two strains of the disease become mixed, the mortality rate might increase.

Dr. Stubbs advised that no attempt be made to drench affected animals with medicine because, in many cases, animals are unable to swallow, with the result that the lungs will become drenched.

The veterinarian said that the disease should not be confused with "blind staggers" or "fornage poison," which occurs about this time of the year. Consequently, he said, the disease should be diagnosed by someone acquainted with it.

The thirteen counties reporting the disease are Benton, Yell, Carroll, Boone, Newton, Pope, Johnson, Franklin, Crawford, Sebastian, Scott, Logan, and Van Buren. The state office has working in the affected areas and have secured the assistance of federal veterinarians.

A Book a Day

By Bruce Catton

Penetrating Study of Negroes' Living.

"Their Eyes Were Watching God" (Lippincott; $2). is the third and finest of Zora Neale Hurston's penetrating novels of her own people.

With intelligence and compassion, Miss Hurston tells the story of Janie, a Florida Negroess, and of the three men she loved and lived with.

She married Logan Killicks, the prosperous farmer, because her grandmother desired it. When love did not come to her with time, as her granny had said it would, she left him for Joe Starks.

When she and Joe first met, he had nothing. But chance sent them to Eatonville, and there his ambition and lust for power made him mayor of the town. As his power increased, his love for Janie and his kindness to her diminished. At last, his cruelty goaded her to madness and she killed him.

A long time passed, and then one day "Tea Cake," young and debonair and swaggering, stepped into her store. What happened to Janie after that brought her the only real happiness she ever knew.

"Their Eyes Were Watching God" is a moving story, told with humor and great understanding. Miss Hurston has a sense of the dramatic which lifts and speeds her novel. There is a tendency to write preciously and an intoxication with words, both of which tend to clutter a bit the simple story. On the other hand there is skillful writing and really magnificently handled negro dialog.

This novel is certainly one of the season's best, and adds weight to the conviction that one of these days Miss Hurston is going to produce the great negro novel destined to come out of America.—E. M. T.

9c GOVERNMENT COTTON LOAN FORMS RECEIVED

Forms for obtaining Government 9-cent loans are here, and we are now prepared to arrange loans with the same prompt and careful consideration that we have extended the producer for over 30 years. The evidence of this constructive and gratifying service is the retention of the valuable patronage of some of the largest and most influential planters in the Hope territory for that unusual length of time; and those who anticipate placing their cotton in 9-cent government loans can be assured of this most satisfactory attention. Furthermore, they will find it to their decided advantage to arrange their loans through our firm.

GENTLEMEN, WE GIVE YOU THE MOST MODERN CHASSIS IN THE WORLD

Under the new beauty of Buick, modern engineering makes history, co-starring the DYNAFLASH ENGINE and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING

WHAT HAPPENS inside the 1938 Buick engine happens nowhere else in the world.

That is not advertising language, it is cold-steel engineering fact.

Speeding through the raceways of the intake manifold, the fuel mixture vapor hurricanes into the cylinders at speeds around 250 miles an hour.

As it sweeps past streamline valve contours, a scientifically designed Turbo-lator, built into the piston face, flings it into airwhirls of terrific turbulence.

The spark that leaps through that compact storm-center sets off a flashing cyclone of power, exploding with tornadoic force!

Sitting in the driver's seat you become aware of power that is livelier and more brilliant because gasoline is giving up more performance than it ever gave up to motorists before!

TO MATCH this incomparable stride, Buick engineers now give you a kind of springing you will likewise find on no other car in the world.

Poised on jarless coils of easy-flexing steel, Buick floats free of bobble, jar, chatter, jounce.

The car will not over-steer or under-steer—skidding, even on icy highways, is blessedly reduced.

Rear tires no longer scuff half their life away through power-wasting wheel-slip.

Through winter and summer, without need of grease and without "seize" from rust, dirt, water or ice, springs keep their gentle, even cushioning for the life of the car.

YES, IT IS a great story, the story of these twin engineering triumphs in the 1938 Buick.

So great a story that it obscures half a score of other advances, themselves enough to make any car a wonderful buy.

We invite you to learn more about them this week at any Buick show room.

"Better buy Buick!"

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
V. A. Hammond, Pastor

Attendance in the Sunday School nearly reached the goal for the quarter last Sunday when 93 were present.
With a little more effort we can reach the goal of 96. But we need to start a little earlier. Only a handful were present at 9:45 last week. Let's be on time this Sunday.

The pastor brings a Communion meditation at the regular worship hour
Sunday morning when he speaks on
"When Christ Led the Singing." We hear much of Christ's sighs, of His groans, of His tears, of His cries, and of His agony and disgust, but there is only one record of His singing. And the record shows that He sang on the night that should have been the saddest in His life. What a challenging example the Master has set for His disciples! Songs of praise in the darkest hours! The Lord's Table will be spread at the close of the worship period Sunday morning. All Christians are welcome to the fellowship of the Table.

The sermon for the night service, beginning at 7:30, and continuing for only one hour, is on an evangelistic theme: "A Personally Conducted Journey." It portrays Christ as the a hunting trip, after which they will visit relatives in Los Angeles, Calif.,

vention. They will return Monday the leadership of Mrs. W. F. Sauer.

NOTE: The following advertisement was published yesterday in the Benton (Saline County) Courier by friends of Governor Bailey. The secretary of the Saline County Democratic Committee, confronted with the evidence, admitted in a statement published in the same issue of the Benton newspaper that "the funds were spent openly and the officers and the committee stand back of their actions" in using the committee's money to pay campaign workers of the independent candidate.

In open violation of the law, these manipulators within the Democratic Party spend funds collected from former Democratic candidates in Saline county which can legally be used only for the purpose of holding Democratic primaries.

For what?

To sponsor the candidacy of an Independent candidate who is openly anti-Roosevelt and anti-New Deal and, therefore, anti-Democratic.

Don't Let 'em Fool You

When these desperate ex-Democrats tell you that Governor Bailey's nomination by the Democratic State Committee is illegal, they are telling you that the following persons held office illegally in Arkansas:

William F. Kirby, United States Senator.
Mrs. Hattie W. Caraway, United States Senator.
Mrs. Pearl Peden Oldfield, Congresswoman.
Mrs. Effie Wingo, Congresswoman.
J. S. Utley, Circuit Judge.
Harry P. Wooldridge, Chancellor.
Elmer Owens, Chancellor.
Duval Purkins, Circuit Judge.
Guy Fulk, Circuit Judge.
(And many others.)

All of them were nominated by the Democratic State Committee.

All of them were legally nominated, as the courts have held time after time.

The Miller Manipulators know Governor Bailey's nomination is legal. They dared not take it to the courts. They knew the courts would uphold the nomination!

Who Is Miller, Anyway?

Did any of you ever hear of him before now?
Did you know he has spent seven years in Congress—drawing $70,000 salary and expenses from the taxpayers' money—and during that time has introduced 68 bills and passed only five, all of them unimportant to you and the State of Arkansas?

Did you know he flew back to Washington this session to fight the President's 40-hour-week bill for the benefit of labor? That he has frequently obstructed the President and the late Senator Robinson in the House of Representatives? That he missed 19 important roll calls, including the TVA, and failed to support the President's veto five times?

Even if he were a Democrat, what sort of a man is that to send to the Senate to take the place of the great Senator Robinson?

And what did you have to do with selecting Miller to get into this race? Nothing. You didn't even know there was such a man.

He was selected by a small group of politicians, who have always hated Governor Bailey and were whipped by him last summer.

Among them were some of the same bunch that tried to wreck the Light and Water Plant of Benton, the bunch that hated Bailey more because they knew he had promised the good people of Benton that he would veto the bill wrecking the Light and Water Plant, if it ever passed the Senate and reached his desk.

You All Know Bailey

And you know his record. You know that we have more money in the school fund than ever before; that hundreds of old people in Saline county are getting pensions; that crippled children and widows are being cared for by the state; that we have free text books; that 100 men and women of Saline county are employed in the Benton Unit of the State Hospital; that Governor Bailey has done more since January 9, 1937, to give Saline County a complete State Hospital than was done in six previous years.

These are some of the things he promised to do if he were elected Governor.

What he tells you he will do in the United States Senate—HE WILL DO!

CARL BAILEY WILL SPEAK!

Woman Explorer Risks Own Life

Mrs. William H. Harkness, Jr., Captures a Baby
Panda

The most important single achievement in the world in collecting animals is undoubtedly the recent capture and transportation to America of the baby Giant Panda. Mrs. William H. Harkness, Jr., succeeded in doing what no white person had ever done before when she risked her life in the bamboo forests of the mountains of Ezechuan province in southwestern China and captured the animal alive. The existence of such animals was first discovered in 1869 and ever since that time it has been considered one of the world's most valuable trophies and many explorers have attempted without success to capture it.

The survival of the baby panda and its remarkable growth is credited to Mrs. Harkness, who, with no available history to guide her, succeeded in devising a suitable feeding formula. In less than three months after its capture the panda had increased its weight from 3 pounds to 14 pounds. It is expected to eventually weigh about 250 pounds.

Mrs. Harkness, like all great explorers, realizes the importance of food in building reserve energy. She says,

"I consider Quaker Oats a splendid breakfast for active people." Quaker Oats is a wonderful source of food energy and is rich in Vitamin B.

Music and Agricultural Lecturers

A series of night educational meetings have been arranged for the various communities in Hempstead county under the auspices of the Hempstead County Agricultural Workers Association and Farm Bureau Federation.

The programs are free and consist of educational motion pictures, string music, agricultural lectures and various community activities.

The first meeting will be held at the Patmos school Friday night, beginning at 7:30.

CCC Camp, DeAnn Next
Similar meetings are scheduled at the Alton CCC Camp Monday night, October 18, and at DeAnn Tuesday night, October 19. A special attraction at these two meetings will be a talking motion picture, "Wheels Across Africa."

Other meetings for the various communities will be announced at a later date. The membership of the Hempstead County Agricultural Workers Association is composed of local representatives from the Agricultural Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service, Experiment Station, Vocational Educational Department, Farm Security Administration and other federal and agricultural agencies.

The purpose of the association is to co-ordinate agricultural activities and promote a sound farm program for this county.

MIND Your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. What is the chief difference in the shape of a man's and a woman's visiting cards?
2. Is it good taste to have cards that are to be used for social purposes printed rather than engraved?
3. Is it necessary for a doctor to have his title written out instead of abbreviated on the card which he uses for social purposes?
4. Should a man continue to add "Jr." to his name after his father dies?
5. Is it necessary for a man to have "Mr." on his cards while he is still in college?

What would you do if—
Your maiden name was Ruth Lawson; your first husband, John Jones, dies and leaves children. You later marry and divorce Richard Foley—and you do not wish to be known as "Mrs. Richard Foley." Would you change your name to—
(a) Mrs. Lawson Foley?
(b) Mrs. Jones Foley?
(c) Mrs. John Jones?

- Answers:
1. Man's card larger than woman's.
2. No.
3. No. He may use "Dr."
4. No.
5. No, but he may if he cares to. Best "What Would You Do?" solution—either (c) or (a).

SENATOR HATTIE W. CARAWAY
ENDORSES JOHN E. MILLER
FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR

joins

Congressmen Terry, Driver, Cravens and McClellan and Mrs. Joe T. Robinson in commending Record of Able Representative.

At Jonesboro last night, U. S. Senator Hattie W. Caraway presented Congressman John E. Miller to her friends and neighbors in the following words:

"All of you know I have maintained a strictly neutral attitude in regard to the Senate Race. I have felt and still feel that the people of this state have the right of free speech; that they have the right to express a preference for a candidate for any office from President, Governor, United States Senator, and Representative, clear on down through all the County offices.

Because you have elected me to the Senate does not take from me my right, as a citizen. It does place upon me a heavy responsibility, which I have tried to carry worthily.

Mr. Miller's friends have asked me to introduce him here tonight. I have consented to do so because I am thoroughly familiar with his record through the seven years he has served his District in Congress. I have on many occasions consulted with him, and the whole delegation, on matters of legislation. I have always found him alert, sympathetic and untiring in his efforts on behalf of the people of Arkansas.

I am endorsing his candidacy at this time because by his efficiency and his intelligent attention to his duties he has won the high regard of all who have served with him. Friends, I present to you one who deserves your serious consideration for the office of U. S. Senator

Representative John E. Miller, of Searcy.

Bailey's Nomination "Merely a Gesture"

Seven Able Lawyers, All Lifelong Democrats, Support Congressman Miller's Contention That Committee Nomination "Does Not Bind Anyone."

STATEMENT

September 28, 1937.

To whom it may concern:

We are asked to define the legal status of a nomination of a candidate for the office of United States senator by the state central committee of an organized political party.

Such a nomination has no legal status whatever. Committee nominations are not recognized by the statute governing state elections.

The election statute (Act No. 30, approved March 4, 1891, Crawford & Moses' Digest, section 3746,) prescribes what nominations may be filed with the secretary of state, and what nominations the secretary of state shall certify to the county election commissioners to be placed on the official ballots. They are (1) nominations by a convention of delegates; (2) nominations by a primary election; and (3) nominations by a petition of electors.

State elections are governed exclusively by the election statute. Party rules and regulations have nothing to do with them. The Supreme Court of Arkansas has expressly so held. Stock v. Harris, 97 S. W. (2nd) 920. (Decided November 9, 1936).

The statute prescribes in detail both the duties and the authority of the secretary of state with reference to state elections. He is only empowered to accept, file and certify nominations made by a convention of delegates, by a primary election, or by a petition of electors. If he certifies any other kind of a nomination he makes himself liable for the penalties prescribed by the statute. (Crawford & Moses' Digest, section 3887.)

A nomination by a state committee is not a nomination by a convention of delegates, or by a primary election, or by a petition of electors. It is merely a committee gesture that is without the slightest legal significance under the statute governing state elections, and does not bind anyone.

(Signed)

Chas. T. Coleman, Little Rock

W. G. Riddick, Little Rock

We have read the foregoing opinion, and we fully approve it.

S. Brundidge, Searcy

T. J. Gaughan, Camden

N. J. Gantt Jr., Pine Bluff

W. V. Tompkins, Prescott

S. H. Mann, Forrest City

Hundreds of other learned lawyers in every section of the state concur in this clear-cut opinion.

More than 800 Democratic party officials in the State have signed resolutions condemning Mr. Bailey's Committee nomination as illegal.

JOHN E. MILLER is the leader of the true regular Democrats, and those citizens who scratch Carl E. Bailey's name vote to rebuke arrogance, attempted intimidation and deception, and will not be barred from future primaries.

Aggies Expected to Win Over T.C.U.

Arkansas Will Meet Texas Without the Services of Robbins

DALLAS, Texas.—(P)—The team they've been promising down at Texas A. and M.—the best since the memorable year of 1927—bows into Southwest conference competition Saturday against a rugged crew that could shatter their illusions on the tee-off, Texas Christian.

Two of the best-balanced clubs in the Southwest will play before Fort Worth's second largest football throng—second only to the mob that thronged through the Southern Methodist-Christian "Rose Bowl" game of 1935. Twenty-seven thousand should see the kick-off.

Favored because of two fine inter-sectional victories over Manhattan and Mississippi State while Texas Christian was losing to Ohio State, tying

A GOOD LAXATIVE

Arkansas and beating Tulsa, the Aggies, nevertheless, will be playing a potent team that has held a jinx over them the past 12 years.

Coach Homes Norton, moaning about his Aggie injury list, rates TCU as perhaps the strongest team his Aggie will meet.

"I can't see for the life of me," he growled, "why we have been doped out as such a strong team. It puts us on the spot and TCU is laying for us. The game, to my mind, is a toss-up."

Four thousand Aggie cadets will follow their team to Fort Worth to see the big Aggie line try to shake loose Dick Todd, great halfback who ran wild last week against Mississippi State. Todd will be engaged in a duel with little Davel O'Brien, the Christians' able successor to Sammy Baugh who has hurled 33 passes for a total of 354 yards to date.

Only once in 12 seasons has an A. and M. team licked TCU, and that was last year, 19-7. However, Sammy Baugh was injured and his passes were wild. This year, the Christians will have O'Brien and Johnny Hall, a granite back to slash the tackles, in good health.

Another tossup game will be played at Austin when Texas and Arkansas, both with one victory, one tie and one defeat, meet in the other league game. Texas, with its bevy of fleet backs, will miss Hugh (Big Bad) Wolfe, unlikely to play because of an injury. However, Arkansas' Jack Robbins, passer, kicker and runner will not play. Dwight Sloan, his capable running mate, will shoulder most of the burden.

The game of many angles, Southern Methodist vs. Vanderbilt, will be Dallas' attraction. Coach Matty Bell, given his shove to the Rose Bowl by Ray Morrison, now Vandy coach, will match his faltering Methodists against his old head coach while Morrison's son, Jack, the Methodists' crack passer, will be firing his aerials in an effort to cut a smear on his dad's record for the season.

Baylor's Bruins, the courageous outfit that smothered Arkansas with a last-minute surge last Saturday, goes into Shreveport prepared to fire Bullet Bill Patterson and his noted passes at a Centenary team that polished off Southern Methodist two weeks ago. Last season Baylor took Centenary lightly and were dazed by a 10-0 defeat.

Still without a win and scoreless through two games with Oklahoma and Louisiana State, the Rice Owls, a potent team that can't get started, will meet Tulsa's Golden Hurricanes at Houston. The Tulans whipped the same Oklahoma team, 19-7, that beat down Rice 6-0. However, the Owls showed something in their loss to LSU last week, a loss that might have been a win except for a fumble on the goal-line and a 100-yard run by a Louisiana end.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—(P)—Coach Fred C. Thomsen, in a last minute decision, left Quarterback Jack Robbins at Fayetteville Thursday night when the University of Arkansas Razorbacks entrained for Austin to play the University of Texas Saturday.

"Robbins has a bruised hip and injured knee and is unable to play," Thomsen said. "The best way to keep from inserting him in the game is to leave him at Fayetteville to fully recover for the rest of the season."

The following players made the trip: Ends—Jim Benton, Ray Hamilton, Zack Smith, Art Withers and Jack Holt.

Tackles—Ed Lalman, Randall Stallings, Irving Wolfson, Dudley Mays and Bob Stout.

Guards—George Gilmore, B. A. Owen, Wilfred Thorps and Drew Martin.

Centers—Lloyd Woodell, John Donaldson and Odus Roberts.

Backs—Ralph Rawlings, Lloyd Montgomery, Dwight Sloan, Marion Fletcher, Kay Eakin, Ray Cole, Frank Mosely, Ralph Atwood, F. G. Larimore, Neil Martin and Floyd Lyons.

McKechnie Signs Baseball Contract

"Pie" Traynor Again to Manage Pittsburgh Ball Club

CINCINNATI.—(P)—Bill McKechnie signed a two-year contract calling for a $25,000-a-year salary Thursday as manager of the Reds baseball club. General Manager Warren C. Giles

"Colossus" Captured

Pictured above is "Colossus" the huge 68-ton whale scheduled to be exhibited in Hope for one day only, Saturday, October 16th. The photo shows "Colossus" immediately after losing her historic battle to the crew of the killer ship "Hercules." The battle lasted 15 hours, and at its conclusion the whale and killer ship were within sight of Catalina Island, just off the coast of Southern California. She is a Pacific Finback, the largest of her species ever captured and is now on a trans-continental tour which will bring her to this city. The huge exhibit car on which she is transported will be parked on team track at the Missouri Pacific depot, and the exhibit will be open to the public from noon until 10 p. m.

said that only two other major league pilots made "anything like" that amount, naming Bill Terry of the Giants and Joe McCarthy of the Yankees.

The contract calls for a $5,000-a-year bonus if the Reds' attendance reaches an average of 450,000 a year, and if the team finishes in the first division.

Traynor Signs Again
PITTSBURGH.—(P)—Harold J. (Pie) Traynor will guide the Pirates again next year.

President William E. Benswanger of the steel city's baseball club announced that Traynor had signed a contract to manage the National League entry in 1938. The contract is for one year.

Traynor was one of the classiest third basemen in the big show during the years he played for Pittsburgh from 1920 until his retirement two years ago.

He said at 35 when he succeeded George Gibson as manager in June, 1934, that he would "keep on plugging
